Summary of Experience

Daniel's experience encompasses a wide range of typologies - airports, residential, offices and public buildings - and at all stages, from competition, feasibility to construction.

He was the site representative on both Paddington Waterside and Senedd Cymru | Welsh Parliament and worked on the NEO Bankside and Riverlight residential in London in their early stages.

Daniel worked on The Leadenhall Building in The City of London during the scheme design phase, and again during the tender and construction phases where he was responsible for the cladding and steel structure of the building's north core. He was also the lead for the steel and concrete structural frame at Terminal 1 Lyon-St Exupéry Airport.

Since 2020, Daniel has been the project architect for 20 Carlton House Terrace, an adaptive reuse scheme for an office in Central London, in addition to working on competition bids.

More recently, he has been project architect for the Senedd Expansion project in Cardiff and has been involved with the Sąvaržėlė project in Lithuania. Daniel is currently working on the 99 Bishopsgate project in London.

Daniel is a member of the RSHP Recruitment Team and mentors junior staff members. He has also taught post-graduate students at the Bartlett School of Architecture, UCL where he has been a practice tutor and crit juror for the fourth year Design Realisation module. He is currently a guest crit juror for Unit 14.

For many years, Daniel was a Trustee of The Art Academy, an independent art school in London.
